Dear Hiring Team,

I am excited to apply for the Partner Integrations Specialist position at JUMO.

While my background is rooted in UX, product design and digital delivery, much of my 15+ year career has been spent bridging the gap between business stakeholders, technical teams and product delivery. Across SaaS, financial services, telecommunications, e-learning and mobile products, I have worked closely with engineers, product owners and senior stakeholders to translate complex requirements into scalable, user-centred solutions.

My experience includes requirements gathering, workflow design, technical collaboration, stakeholder management and coordinating cross-functional teams to deliver successful digital products. I am comfortable working within technical environments, discussing system constraints and dependencies, documenting processes, and helping teams navigate complexity to achieve shared outcomes.

What particularly attracts me to JUMO is the opportunity to work at the intersection of technology, partnerships and impact. I enjoy solving complex problems, building strong working relationships and helping diverse teams align around successful delivery.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my experience and systems-thinking approach could contribute to JUMO's integrations team.

Kind regards,

Paul Bristow
